

The Mermaid

All ^C One Friday morning when we set sail ^F And our ship not far from ^C land

^F We there did espy a pretty pretty maid

^C With a comb and a ^{G7} glass in her ^C hand, her hand, her hand,

^C With a comb and a ^{G7} glass in her ^C hand.

All Chorus ^C While the raging seas did roar, ^F And the stormy winds did ^C blow

^C And we jolly sailor boys were up, ^F were up aloft

^C And the land lubbers lying down ^{G7} below, ^C below, below

^C And the land lubbers lying down ^{G7} below ^C

Men ^C And then up spoke the captain of our ship

^F Who at once our peril did ^C see

^F I have married a wife in fair Padstow town

^C And tonight she a widow will ^{G7} be, ^C will be, will be.

^C And tonight she a widow will ^{G7} be. ^C

All Chorus

Ladies ^C Then up spoke the little cabin boy

^F And a fair haired boy was ^C he.

^F I've a father and mother in fair Falmouth town.

^C And tonight they will weep for ^{G7} me, ^C for me, for me.

^C And tonight they will weep for ^{G7} me. ^C

All Chorus

All ^C Then three times around went of our gallant ship

^F And three times around went ^C she

^F Then three times around went of our gallant gallant ship

^C And she sank to the ^{G7} bottom of the ^C sea, the sea, the sea.

^C And she sank to the ^{G7} bottom of the ^C sea.
